

News and Homework for week beginning 2nd July

This week... Move Up Day, Lion King and the heat!!!!

Another busy end of term week! On Monday we had move up day. The children focused on the gingerbread man story. They made tasty gingerbread men and decorated them with icing and sweets, they worked collaboratively. We then did a science investigation to see what would happen if the gingerbread got wet. We used a range of different liquids. The children had excellent language to describe what might happen in the different liquids. They were surprised when the gingerbread man in oil didn't dissolve. They also explored the outdoor area and played house.

On Tuesday the boys joined the Owls for a tri golf lesson, and they had the advantage as they have previously played it - they impressed the owls. They also looked at various clips and resources from the Lion King show so they were aware of the story line, and the types of animals. On Wednesday we went to London. So many things to say! The children were amazing, followed instructions, asked lots of questions and laughed, giggled and stared transfixed at the stage. Their favourite character was obviously the trumping waterhog, and they were not so keen on the ballads and kissing!

We followed up our visit with some African themed activities, and wrote a recount of our adventure.
